

Paul Roe

Paul is a seasoned actor from Dublin.

Mid-February saw Paul wrap filming on Cluster Fox Films feature film "THE BLACK GUELPH" in which he stars in the lead role of 'Dan'. This film which is co-written by John Connors (LoveHate, Cardboard Gangsters) and Tiernan William marks John's directorial debut. Cast also includes Denise McCormack, Graham Early and Lauren Larkin.

Paul's past screen credits include the supporting role of 'Johnstone' in the BBC Television drama Series "THE DUBLIN MURDERS", 'Detective Tony O'Callaghan' in Alfonso Films short "SPENT" directed by Claire Byrne, the principal recurring role of 'Vincent 'Vinny' Kiely' across all four seasons of the television drama "RED ROCK", 'Flicko' in Mark O'Connors feature film 'Cardboard Gangsters', 'Flemo' in RTE Television's comedy series "DAMO & IVOR", 'Tommy Mullen' in "VERONICA GUERIN" directed by Lenny Abrahamson, and the lead role of 'Kev' in Tom Sullivan's short film "MECHANIC".

Paul's acting career began under the tutelage of the late Deirdre O'Connell in Dublin's Focus Theatre. His theatre credits include 'Doctor Sugar' in "SUDDENLY LAST SUMMER" by Tennessee Williams, 'Adam' in "SOMEONE TO WATCH OVER ME" by Frank McGuinness, and 'Nicki' in "THE SEAFARER" by Connor McPhearson, and most notably travelling to New York, Paris and Bucharest with the Tall Tales Theatre Company appearing in "HUE & CRY".
